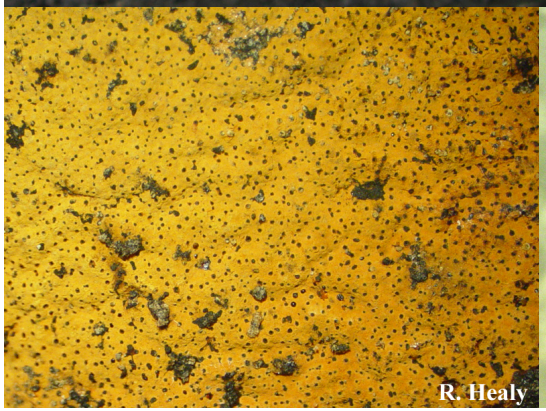
Entonaema liquescens Möller



Description:
pyrenomycete
Fruiting Body: stroma 1-13 cm; sessile. Spores: ascospores (8) 9.5-11.7 (13) x (4) 5-6 (7.3) µm, ellipsoid, light to dark brown, with germ slit, two guttules.

Diagnostic macroscopic feature: bright yellow stroma filled with liquid

Diagnostic microscopic feature: apical pore ring blue in Melzer's not commonly collected but widely distributed

Nutritional Mode: saprobe

Substrate: on logs

Habitat: deciduous woods

Fruiting Season: fall

Kingdom: Fungi
Phylum: Ascomycota
Order: Xylariales